3. What data is processed when you contact us directly?

If your company is our customer or you are interested in our products and services, then we save your personal master data. This includes name, first name, position, company address, company telephone number, company fax number, email and website. Furthermore, we record in which market segment your company is active and for which of our products and services you are interested.

If your company is a supplier, then we also collect your personal master data such as surname, first name, position, company address, company telephone number, company fax number, email and website.

If you have applied with us for a job, then we save your email and your application documents as a pdf document.

We save your communication by email with us and thus also the personal data contained therein. Please note that data transmission over the Internet (for example, when communicating via e-mail) may have security vulnerabilities. A complete protection of the data from access by third parties is not possible.

4. What data is processed when you visit our website?

When you visit our website, our provider collects the following server log files, which are not assigned to your personal master data. These are:

- Browser type and browser version
- Operating system
- Referrer URL
- Host name of the accessing computer
- Time of the server request
- IP address

These data are not recorded in our data base.

Our websites use so-called cookies. Cookies do not harm your computer and do not contain viruses. Cookies serve to make our offer more user-friendly, effective and secure. Cookies are small text files that are stored on your computer and stored by your browser.

Most of the cookies we use are so-called "session cookies". They are automatically deleted after your visit. Other cookies remain stored on your device until you delete them. These cookies allow us to recognize your browser the next time you visit.

You can set your browser to inform you about the acceptance of cookies and enable the automatic deletion of cookies when closing the browser. Disabling cookies may limit the functionality of this website.

If you send us inquiries via the contact form, your details from the inquiry form, including the contact details you provided there, will be recorded in order to process the request and in case of follow-up questions. The processing of the data entered into the contact form is thus exclusively based on contract initiation, support and fulfillment (Art. 6 para. 1 b DSGVO).

Our website uses for security reasons and to protect the transmission of confidential content an SSL or TLS encryption. You can recognize an encrypted connection by changing the address line of the browser from "http: //" to "https: //" and by the lock symbol in your browser line.

If SSL or TLS encryption is enabled, the data you submit to us cannot be read by third parties.

5. Are your data transmitted to third parties?

Internally, within our company, we pass the data on to those individuals who need them to fulfill their contractual and legal obligations. This also applies to service providers, which we use to carry out the tasks properly. Your data will only be passed on to third parties if we have a clear legal basis, if required by law, if you have consented or if we are otherwise entitled to do so.

The following recipients could receive data from us: shipping service providers, insurance companies, banks and credit institutions (payment processing), market partners, sales representatives, web hosts, print service providers, lawyers and auditors.

We only transfer personal data to third parties if this is necessary within the scope of the contract, for example to the bank responsible for processing the payment.

A further transmission of the data will not be done, only if you have expressly consented to the transmission. A transfer of your data to third parties without explicit consent, such as for advertising purposes, does not occur.

6. For what purposes is your data processed and what is the legal basis for this processing?

a. Contract initiation, support, fulfillment (Article 6 (1) (b) GDPR)

In order to be able to prepare and execute a contract with you (including fulfillment of the service or delivery and billing), we require personal data from you. We may process this data according to Art. 6 para. 1b DSGVO.

b. Data processing for legal issues (Article 6 (1) of the GDPR)

Legislation explicitly allows us to process further data for our legitimate interests. Among other things, we do this for the following purposes:

- Carry out measures to improve and develop services and products in order to be able to offer you a customized approach with tailor-made offers and products
- Conduct market and opinion research or have it carried out by market and opinion research institutes. This gives us an overview of the transparency and quality of our products, services and communication and can align and design these in the interests of our customers
- Assertion legal claims
- Defense in legal disputes
- Clarification of crimes

c. Data processing on the basis of legal requirements (Article 6 (1) c DSGVO) or in the public interest (Article 6 (1) e DSGVO)

As a company, we are subject to various legal and regulatory obligations (such as tax laws, the commercial law) that require to process your data in order to comply with the law.

7. How long will your data be recorded by us?

Your data will be recorded for the first time from the time we receive it.

Personal data from customer, potential customer and supplier relations as well as application documents are not deleted by us due to the disproportionately large costs and the small interest. The data will not be deleted even after expiration of the legal storage obligations from the commercial code (HGB) and the tax code (AO).

8. Is a profiling of the data done?

No. We do not elaborate client's profiles.

9. What rights do you have regarding the processing of your data?

You have the following rights with regards to your personal data:

- Right to receive information about your stored personal data (Art. 15 GDPR),
- Right to rectification if the stored data relating to you are incorrect, outdated or otherwise incorrect (Art. 16 GDPR),
- Right to erasure if storage is inadmissible (Art. 17 GDPR),
- Right to restriction of processing if one of the conditions specified in Art. 18 (1) (a) to (d) of the GDPR is met (Art. 18 GDPR),
- Right to transfer your personal data to you (Art. 20 GDPR),
- Right to complain to a supervisory authority (Article 77 GDPR).

In the case of law violations, the person concerned has the right of appeal to the competent supervisory authority. The competent supervisory authority for data protection issues is the state data protection officer of the federal state in which our company is based. A list of the data protection officers as well as their contact data can be taken from the following link:
